Questions for Living

THE SANDWELL SACRE
RELIGIOUS EDUCATION
SYLLABUS

Sandwell is a diverse community of communities: Sikhs, Muslims, Hindus, Christians and many others have varied patterns of beliefs and ways of living.

Here in Sandwell schools all children can learn about religion and belief together, and discover what benefits can flow from mutual understanding.

This syllabus of Religious Education enables good learning for all our children.

Religious Education: Spiritual, thoughtful and reasonable

It is vital for our schools to help children and young people to develop their own ideas and ways of living, to learn to be reasonable about belief and religions and to be respectful to those who see the world differently.

If everyone finds their own path in life, then the great religions of the world can act as guides. RE introduces pupils to the influences of faith over thousands of years and for billions of people. That’s a part of a good education for the 21st century.

In England, the spirit of co-operation characterises the making of RE syllabuses by Local Authority SACREs. The law requires local faith groups, teachers and democratically elected members to work together to produce this shared RE syllabus, which is reviewed every 5 years. The 2012 Sandwell syllabus is not just the product of a legal requirement, but also reflects the collaboration of these different stakeholders.

The new RE syllabus provides help to teachers as they plan and teach RE. It is more practical and detailed than ever before. We hope that through this syllabus the children and young people of Sandwell will find in their RE learning material to fascinate and stimulate them, much to think about creatively and deeply, some challenges to each person to play their part in a better community and the chance to explore spirituality for themselves. Thanks are due to all those involved in drawing up the syllabus, and all the teachers who will turn the words on its pages into dynamic learning for our pupils.

Barbara Peacock
Corporate Director – People, Sandwell

An opening word from Sarah Davis, Chair of Sandwell SACRE:

“I would like to take this opportunity to first of all thank all of the SACRE members, teaching and non-teaching staff that have made such valuable contributions to the revision of this syllabus. In particular, I would like to thank Lat Blaylock for his hard work and dedication in preparing and organising this revision of the Sandwell Agreed Syllabus and to Bob Brooks from the LA who has been a strong source of support for its development.

I truly believe that it is the best version of an RE syllabus to date, with many new features that have been developed in response to specific feedback and requests of all involved in the delivery of Religious Education.

I personally find of particular value the assessment strands that are intrinsically linked with the individual programmes of study, as well as the sample units of work and additional resources available on the disc.

I very much hope that this new Agreed Syllabus will not only be an informative document, but a useful tool, guide and an inspiration to both new and experienced staff alike, to develop the delivery of Religious Education to the highest standard in an engaging and lively manner.

I look forward to receiving your responses to this syllabus and to continually developing and progressing the teaching of quality Religious Education.”
Introduction
This Agreed Syllabus for Religious Education (RE) has been created by the Sandwell Agreed Syllabus Conference. It is the legal basis for RE in Sandwell schools.

Since 1944, all schools have been required to teach RE to all pupils on roll (with the exception that parents have the right to withdraw their children from the subject). Therefore, along with English, Mathematics, Science, Information Technology and Secondary Citizenship, Religious Education is part of the Basic Curriculum.

The syllabus explains the value and purposes of RE for all pupils, and specifies for teachers what shall be taught in each age group. It provides a coherent framework for setting high standards of learning in RE, and enabling pupils to reach their potential in the subject. As such, the Agreed Syllabus is parallel to the government’s subject orders for the subjects of the National Curriculum.

Rationale: The Purposes of Religious Education
Religious Education and the subjects of the National Curriculum form the basic curriculum. The National Curriculum Handbook (DFES, 2000) asserts that: ‘Religious Education makes a distinctive contribution to the school curriculum by developing pupils’ knowledge and understanding of religion, religious beliefs, practices, language and traditions and their influence on individuals, communities, societies and cultures. It enables pupils to consider and respond to a range of important questions related to their own spiritual development, the development of values and attitudes and fundamental questions concerning the meaning and purpose of life.’

Religious Education is an essential component of a broad and balanced education.

Religious Education is concerned with the deep meaning that individuals and groups make of their experiences and how this helps them give purpose to their lives. It provides opportunities to explore, make and respond to the meanings of those experiences in relation to the beliefs and experiences of others as well as to one’s own experiences.

RE’s place in the curriculum is underpinned by values and purposes (which are specified in the National Curriculum, 2000 alongside the QCA / DFES National RE Framework, 2004)
Along with the other subjects of the curriculum, RE aims:
• To provide opportunities for all pupils to learn and to achieve.
• To promote pupils’ spiritual, moral, social and cultural development and to prepare all pupils for the opportunities, responsibilities and experiences of the present and the future.
Executive Summary

Agreed Syllabus Requirements for RE in Sandwell Schools from 2012
(Please refer to the detailed sections of the syllabus for complete guidance and requirements)

- All pupils on the school roll are entitled to receive Religious Education. This includes pupils in the reception year of the Early Years Foundation Stage and 16-19 year old students in school Sixth Forms.
- This syllabus is the legal basis for RE in Sandwell schools where it applies (see Legal Guidance). Inspection will be based upon the implementation of this syllabus.
- Time for RE is strongly recommended to be 5% of curriculum time in Key Stages 1-4, ages 5-16.
- The minimum requirements for religions to be studied are specified. There is flexibility for schools to teach more than the minimum. The minimum requirements are:

- Assessment in RE: there is an 8 level scale to establish and guide expectations (the use of the scale for reporting and marking is a matter for schools).
- The Agreed Syllabus specifies succinct programmes of study for each key stage.
- The Agreed Syllabus, launched in January 2012, is to be fully implemented by schools in the following year, with implementation complete by January 2013.
- The syllabus provides guidance papers on issues for school RE, to support the statutory Agreed Syllabus, recognizing the need for schools to improve the confidence of teachers with regard to teaching RE.

How to obtain a copy of the Sandwell Agreed Syllabus

Additional copies can be purchased for £15 each, including the RE Syllabus Disc.
The importance of RE

RE is centrally concerned with the links between religions and the experiences that all humans share.

RE provokes challenging questions
- RE provokes challenging questions about the ultimate meaning and purpose of life, beliefs about God, the self and the nature of reality, issues of right and wrong, and what it means to be human.

RE develops pupils’ knowledge
- RE develops pupils’ knowledge and understanding of Christianity, other principal religions, other religious traditions and other world views that offer answers to questions such as these.

RE offers personal reflection
- RE offers opportunities for personal reflection and spiritual development.

RE enhances awareness
- RE enhances pupils’ awareness and understanding of religions and beliefs, teachings, practices and forms of expression, as well as the influence of religion on individuals, families, communities and cultures.

RE encourages personal growth
- RE encourages pupils to learn from different religions, beliefs, values and traditions, while exploring their own beliefs and questions of meaning.

RE challenges pupils
- RE challenges pupils to reflect on, consider, analyse, interpret and evaluate issues of truth, belief, faith and ethics and to communicate their responses.

RE encourages identity
- RE encourages pupils to develop their sense of identity and belonging. It enables them to flourish individually within their communities and as citizens in a diverse society and global community.

RE has an important role
- RE has an important role in preparing pupils for adult life, employment and lifelong learning. It enables pupils to develop respect for and sensitivity to others, in particular those whose faiths and beliefs are different from their own. It promotes discernment and enables pupils to combat prejudice.
The Aims of Religious Education in Sandwell

Religious Education is concerned with the deep meaning that individuals and groups make of their experiences and how this helps them give purpose to their lives. The purpose of Religious Education is to help pupils to reflect upon the experiences and the mysteries of life and the contribution of religious and spiritual dimensions.

Religious Education should enable pupils to

- Acquire and develop knowledge and understanding of Christianity and the other principal religions represented in the United Kingdom and particularly in Sandwell;
- Develop an understanding of the influence of beliefs, values and traditions on individuals, communities, societies and cultures;
- Develop the ability to make reasoned and informed judgements about religious and moral issues, with reference to the teachings of the principal religions represented in the United Kingdom, and thereby develop confidence in their own beliefs and values;
- Enhance their spiritual, moral, social and cultural development by:
  - Developing awareness of the ultimate questions of life raised by human experiences, and of how religions can relate to them;
  - Responding to such questions with reference to the teachings and practices of religions and other belief systems, relating them to their own understanding and experience;
  - Reflecting positively on their own identity, beliefs, values and experiences in the light of their study;
- Develop positive attitudes:
  - of respect towards other people who hold views and beliefs different from their own, and;
  - towards living in and contributing to an inclusive and caring community and a society of diverse religions.

These aims are expressed as a learning cycle on the next page.
Acquire and develop knowledge and understanding of Christianity and the other principal religions represented in the UK

Enhance their spiritual, moral, social and cultural development by developing awareness of fundamental questions of life, responding to such questions with reference to religious teaching and reflecting on their own beliefs values and experiences

Develop an understanding of the influence of beliefs, values and traditions on individuals, communities, societies and cultures

Develop the ability to make reasoned and informed judgements about religious and moral issues with reference to the teachings of the principal religion represented in the UK

Develop positive attitudes of respect towards other people who hold views and beliefs different from their own, and towards living in a society of diverse religions

The aims of RE for Sandwell schools expressed as a learning cycle
RE Attainment Targets

learning about religion and learning from religion

There are two attainment targets for RE which reflect these aims concisely. RE is to be relevant to pupils’ own personal development: the two attainment targets are sometimes distinct in planning, but often interwoven in good teaching.

AT1 - Learning about religion and beliefs

Developing knowledge and understanding of religions:
Enquiring into, investigating and building knowledge of religions and beliefs.

This includes thinking about and interpreting religious beliefs, teachings, sources, practices, ways of life and ways of expressing meaning with reference to the specific beliefs and religions studied.

AT2 - Learning from religion and beliefs

Developing reasoning and evaluation skills:
Questioning, exploring, reflecting upon, interpreting and justifying ideas about human experience in the light of religions and beliefs studied.

This includes communicating reflections, responses and personal and critical evaluations about questions of identity, belonging, diversity, meaning, purpose, truth, values and commitments, making increasingly insightful links to the specific religions studied.

RE is at its most effective when these two attainment targets are closely related in the learning experience.

An enquiry process makes sense of the learning cycle that these attainment targets envisage: pupils should raise questions, gather information, develop knowledge and understanding (AT1). They should engage with the religious material they study for themselves, reflect on questions for themselves and respond in increasingly insightful ways (AT2)
Sandwell RE Agreed Syllabus: The Legal Requirements

1. Religious Education must be taught to all registered pupils in maintained schools, including those in the sixth form, except to those withdrawn by their parents. The usual interpretation of this clause is that withdrawal on grounds of conscience is implied.

   This requirement does not apply to nursery classes in maintained schools, but it does apply as far as is practical to pupils in special schools and PRUs.

   “Religious Education should be provided for all registered pupils except for those withdrawn at the request of their parents. (s 71 SSFA 1998). This will include school children in Reception classes as well as Post 16 students (but not those at Sixth Form colleges). Special schools should comply as far as is practicable.”

   Education Act (2002) Section 80 (1)(a); (2) (a) (b)

   In Sandwell, in Community Schools, Trust Schools and Foundation and Voluntary Schools without religious character, Religious Education must be provided in accordance with the current Sandwell Agreed Syllabus for Religious Education 2011. RE provision is legal if the Agreed Syllabus is planned and taught. Provision is illegal if it is not.

2. What is the relationship between RE and the National Curriculum?

   Religious education is a component of the legally required Basic Curriculum, to be taught alongside the National Curriculum in all maintained schools.

   “The curriculum for every maintained school in England shall comprise a basic curriculum which includes:
   a) provision for religious education for all registered pupils at the school (in accordance with such of the provisions of Schedule 19 to the School Standards and Framework Act 1998 (c. 31) as apply in relation to the school),
   b) a curriculum for all registered pupils at the school who have attained the age of three but are not over compulsory school age (known as "the National Curriculum for England")”

   Education Act 2002, s80

3. Which schools must follow this Agreed Syllabus?

   Religious education must be taught in accordance with the Sandwell Agreed Syllabus in all:
   - Community Schools and Trust Schools
   - Foundation and Voluntary controlled schools (SSFA 1998 paras 2(1) and 2(2) Schedule 19)

   For Voluntary Aided schools with a religious character, the RE offered is to be determined by the governors in accordance with the trust deed. (SSFA 1998 Schedule 19.4). The required provision is:
   - according to the Trust Deed of the school; or
   - according to the tenets of the religious or religious denomination (where provision is not specified in the Trust Deed); or
   - according to the Sandwell Agreed Syllabus where parents request it (if a child cannot reasonably attend a school where the Agreed Syllabus is being taught).
The Funding Agreements for new academies stipulate that all academies are required to teach RE.

- For academies without a religious character, this will normally be the locally agreed syllabus (DCSF Guidance 2010)
- For denominational academies with a religious character (Church of England or Roman Catholic – but also Muslim or Jewish academies), this will be in line with the denominational syllabus [where there is one].
- For non-denominational (such as Christian) faith academies this can be either of the above, depending on the wishes of the sponsor and what is agreed by Ministers.

DCSF Guidance on religious education in English Schools, 2010

The model Funding Agreement for new academies (2010) follows this stipulation that RE should be taught in all schools, following the local agreed syllabus or denominational syllabus. The rules for Free Schools are the same as for new Academies.

In Sixth Form Colleges, governing bodies are required to ensure that Religious Education is provided at the institution for all students who wish to receive it and that the provision be at a time when it is convenient for the majority of full-time students to attend. Sixth form students over the age of 18 may exercise the right to withdraw from religious education for themselves – without reference to their parents.

In Sandwell schools, it is required that all special schools will provide Religious Education as far as is practicable in accordance with this Agreed Syllabus. Regulations state that, so far as is practicable, every pupil including all pupils with statements of SEN and on the roll of special schools should receive Religious Education.

What are the requirements for RE in Academies?

Academies in the local authority area are invited by the SACRE to use the Sandwell Agreed Syllabus. The Funding Agreements for Academies ensures that they have to deliver RE in the same way as maintained schools. The funding agreements require each academy to provide for RE:

“The Academy shall make provision for the teaching of Religious Education and for a daily act of Collective Worship.”

Education department guidance says that provision shall be made for Religious Education to be given to all pupils at the Academy in accordance with the requirements for agreed syllabuses in S.375(3) EA96 and paragraph 2(5) Schedule 19 SSFA, and having regard to the requirements of the Qualifications and Curriculum Authority’s National Framework for Religious Education in schools. (Community Schools)

EITHER

OR

Where the academy is to be designated as a school with a religious character provision shall be made for Religious Education to be given to all pupils at the Academy in accordance with the tenets of [the specified religion or religious denomination].
4. Religions and the agreed syllabus

An agreed syllabus must reflect the fact that the religious traditions in Great Britain are in the main Christian, while taking account of the teaching and practices of other principal religions represented in Great Britain. (s375 (3) Education Act 1996) The Sandwell Agreed Syllabus 2011 meets this requirement.

An agreed syllabus ‘must not be designed to convert pupils, or to urge a particular religion or religious belief on pupils.’ [Education Act 1996 s.376 (2)] This syllabus maintains that teaching about religions and beliefs should be sufficiently fair, balanced and open. It should promote mutual respect and understanding, whilst not undermining or ignoring the role of families and religious or belief organisations in transmitting values to successive generations. In Church of England VA schools, it will reflect and promote a Christian ethos and Christian values whilst allowing for the freedom of pupils to hold and express different beliefs.

An Agreed Syllabus must not require that Religious Education be provided by means of any catechism or formula which is distinctive of any particular denomination. The Sandwell Agreed Syllabus 2012 meets this requirement.

5. What are the Local Authority’s responsibilities?

Each Local Authority must maintain a Standing Advisory Council on Religious Education (SACRE) to advise the LA on matters connected with Religious Education to be given in accordance with the Agreed Syllabus.

In respect of Community Schools and Foundation and Voluntary Schools without a religious character, the Local Education Authority and the governing body shall exercise their functions with a view to securing, and the Head teacher shall secure, that Religious Education is given in accordance with the legal requirements.

6. Withdrawal from RE: who has the right of withdrawal?

There is a legal right of parental withdrawal from RE. Parents have a legal right to withdraw their child(ren) from part of or the whole of the RE curriculum provided by the school.

There is a legal right for teachers to withdraw from teaching Religious Education (with certain exceptions in Voluntary Aided schools).

Schools may consider including a policy about withdrawal from RE in their prospectus, for example: ‘The school teaches open minded religious education, and is inclusive: all pupils develop their own beliefs and values through RE. So any parent considering exercising the right of withdrawal and removing their child from the subject is invited to make an appointment with staff to discuss the approach we take to RE. The school does not support selective withdrawals from RE lessons.’

The review of this Agreed Syllabus has been based on legal requirements, the most recent of which are:

- The Education Act 1996
- The School Standards and Framework Act 1998
- The Education Act 2002
- The Children Act 2004
- The Education and Inspections Act 2006

The review takes account of guidance issued by the Department for Education which do not have the force of law, particularly ‘Religious Education in English Schools: Non Statutory Guidance 2010’
Which religions and beliefs are to be used for learning in RE?

The Syllabus Conference’s decisions about which religions shall be studied reflect the population of Sandwell, the Midlands region and the UK, in line with the law and good practice in RE. The requirements enable a continuing study of Christianity, Sikhism and Islam, the principal religions of Sandwell, from KS1-3, and require the study of Hindu traditions (for 7-14s), Judaism (for 7-14s) and Buddhism (for 11-14s) as well. Schools may also plan work about other religions (e.g. the Baha’i faith, Jains, Rastafari) and non-religious ethical life stances (e.g. Humanism) as appropriate.

The Syllabus requires the study of six religions across the 5-14 age range, with a strong emphasis on the religions most represented in Sandwell.

Curriculum Time for Religious Education

In order to deliver the aims and expected standards of the syllabus, the Agreed Syllabus Conference strongly recommends a minimum allocation of curriculum time for RE based upon the law and DCSF and QCDA guidance: a minimum 5% of curriculum time is required for teaching RE.

The Primary Curriculum proposals of 2010 gave a starting point of 60 minutes per week for Key Stage 1 and 75 minutes per week for key stage 2, and offered numerous examples of timetabling in which RE is allocated 60 -75 minutes per week (QCDA, 2010). This recommendation is further supported in ‘Designing the Curriculum’ (Specialist Schools and Academies Trust, 2008).

This means in practice that schools are expected to allocate:

Reception Year: A minimum of 30 hours identifiable within adult led experiences.
Key Stage 1: 36 hours of tuition per year.
Key Stage 2: 45 hours of tuition per year.
Key Stage 3: 45 hours of tuition per year.
Key Stage 4: 5% of curriculum time, or 70 hours of tuition across the key stage.
16-19: Allocation of time for RE for all should be clearly identifiable.

Notes:

- RE as a core subject. RE is a core subject of the curriculum for all pupils. The requirements of this Agreed Syllabus are not subject to the flexibility of the Foundation Subjects.
- RE and worship. Curriculum time for Religious Education is distinct from the time schools may spend on Collective Worship or school assembly. The times given above are for Religious Education.
- RE in the whole curriculum. There is clearly a common frontier between RE and such subjects as literacy, citizenship or PSHE. But the times given above are explicitly for the clearly identifiable teaching of Religious Education. Some schools also use ‘RE days’ or an ‘RE week’ to focus learning: the QCDA’s examples see such special events as an addition, rather than an alternative to weekly lessons. Some schools use these structures where they are providing less than an hour a week of RE, making up time and quality through an RE Day or an RE week.
- Sufficient time for RE. Any school in which head teachers and governors do not plan to allocate sufficient curriculum time for RE is unlikely to be able to enable pupils to achieve the standards set out in this syllabus. So upon the implementation of the syllabus, school leaders are invited to review the time given to the RE curriculum to secure a platform for good standards.
Early Years Foundation Stage Programme of Study

The Early Years Foundation Stage [EYFS]
The EYFS describes the phase of a child’s education to the end of the reception year, age 5. Religious Education is a statutory requirement for all registered pupils on the school roll – those in FS2. Religious Education is not compulsory for pupils in a nursery school or nursery class in a primary school. National requirements for EYFS are reduced by the Department for Education in the year when this syllabus is published, but for RE the programme of learning described below applies to all schools.

Focus the RE learning on this
During the EYFS children can begin to explore the world of religion in terms of stories, special people, books, times, places and objects, and visiting places of worship. Children listen to and talk about stories from the beginnings of religions and stories about religion today. They are introduced to simple specialist words and use their senses in exploring religious beliefs, practices and forms of expression. They reflect upon their own feelings and experiences. They use their imagination and curiosity to develop their appreciation and wonder of the world in which they live. Play is a major way of learning.

Learning in RE requires a multi-sensory approach, providing opportunities for pupils to begin to learn and understand about, themselves, others (personal, social and emotional development) and the world (knowledge and understanding of the world) and to develop pupils’ abilities to express themselves (communication, language and literature, creative development).

Breadth of study

During the Foundation Stage, pupils should be taught the knowledge, understanding and skills through the religions found in the class. In Sandwell, there are many children from Sikh, Muslim, Christian and non-religious families:

Beginning to learn from Christianity.

Schools should also plan for pupils to begin learning about the other religions represented in the class, the school and the local area (e.g. Islam, Sikhism).

Experience of:

- Special times and events such as a birthday, a baby welcoming ceremony such as baptism, some festivals such as Baisakhi, Eid ul Fitr, Christmas or Easter;
- Ways that people show that they belong in families or communities;
- Communicating, especially through worship and prayer.

Knowledge and Understanding of the World

“Investigates places and objects, finds out about the past and present... begins to know about own culture and beliefs and those of other people, begins to explore what it means to belong...”

(EYFS Framework)

| Aims and activities can include:                                                                 |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------|
| Visiting places of worship in the local community and exploring what can be found and how the places make different people feel; |
| Meeting people from different groups within the community, including faith communities and sharing ideas; |
| Asking and answering questions about people’s experiences of faith, life and culture with sensitivity; |
| Hearing some creation stories such as that found in the Bible and becoming aware that some people believe God made them whilst others do not accept this; |
| Raising awareness and reflecting on how we rely on the world’s resources; |
| Becoming aware of seasonal change and celebrating the good earth, e.g. in a harvest festival; |
| Sharing foods from a range of different cultures. Cooking, eating and talking together; |
| Exploring artefacts from a range of different cultures. Knowing how and why to treat them with respect; |
| Developing awareness of the world at large and reflecting on the richness in diversity – religious food and feasts, costume, special buildings, objects and artefacts. |

Creative Development

“Expresses feelings and preferences... exploring and communicating ideas and preferences through art, music, dance, role play and imaginative play.”

(EYFS Framework, 2007)

| Aims and activities can include:                                                                 |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------|
| Listening to and / or singing songs from various religions and cultures;        |
| Making music and using it as a background for story telling, movement, dance or circle time; |
| Handling special objects and artefacts and talking about their beauty, use and meaning; |
| Designing and making special objects including religious artefacts;             |
| Cooking festive food, making religious masks and dressing up in religious costumes; |
| Enjoying times of joy and times of peace and calm;                             |
| Responding creatively through music, movement, dance, painting or in other ways to different experiences such as visits to places of worship, time spent in the natural world, stories shared, music making and more. |

While the syllabus makes the major links between RE and the Early Learning Goals in the four categories specified above, the development of children’s mathematical and physical skills is not excluded from connection with RE work.

There is considerable additional guidance about RE in the EYFS on the Sandwell RE Syllabus disc of support materials.
Key Stage 1 Programme of Study

The focus for RE for 5-7 year olds

Learning about Religion: During key stage 1, pupils will talk about beliefs about God and express their own ideas simply. They will encounter and respond to a range of stories, artefacts and other religious materials. They will begin to understand the importance and value of religion for believers. Pupils will begin to learn about some of the richness of Christianity, Sikhism and Islam, the principal religions represented in Sandwell. They will be able to use simple information about religion, recognising that ideas are communicated in a variety of ways.

Learning from Religion: In the context of learning about religion, reflecting on their own feelings and experiences and developing a sense of belonging, pupils will ask relevant questions, showing that they are developing an enquiring approach to faith and life and a sense of wonder at the world. They will be able to talk simply about what is important to them, valuing themselves.

The areas of enquiry for pupils at Key Stage 1 can be taught in any sequence that the school plans. All areas enable achievement with reference to both AT1 and AT2. It is crucial to the success of RE teaching that a balance is struck in RE learning between gathering information and understanding about particular religions and thinking about the questions which all humans address. So learning about religion (AT1) and learning from religion (AT2) are equally important and depend upon each other.

Teachers are advised to refer to the aims elaborated on pages 7-9.

Key Stage 1 Breadth of study

During the key stage pupils should be taught the knowledge, skills and understanding through the following religions, areas of study, experiences and opportunities:

Religions

Pupils will begin to learn about Christianity, Sikhism and Islam. Teachers may plan learning about the religions and beliefs of other communities represented in the classroom as well.

Areas of study

- story: how and why some stories are sacred and important in religion;
- myself: who I am and my uniqueness as a person in a family and community;
- belonging: where and how people belong and why belonging is important;
- leaders and teachers: figures who have an influence on others locally, nationally and globally in religion;
- celebrations: how and why celebrations are important in religion;
- symbols: how and why symbols express religious meaning;
- believing: what people believe about God, humanity and the natural world.

Experiences and opportunities

- visiting places of worship with a focus on symbols and feelings, and listening to and responding to visitors from local faith communities;
- using all their senses in developing their knowledge, skills and understanding, and developing their creative talents and imagination through art, music, dance, drama and times of quiet reflection;
- sharing their own beliefs, ideas and values and talking about their feelings and experiences;
- beginning to use ICT to explore religious beliefs and practices in the local and wider community.

AT1: Religious and spiritual communication and expression

Linked to AT2: Questions of value and commitment

What do Christian people say about God?
To learn about some ways religious people speak of God and to ask simple questions about God themselves, stimulated by stories of Jesus. To learn how music is used to thank and praise God in places of worship.

What is a symbol? What symbols matter to the Muslims and Christians?
To learn about symbols as the language of religion. To begin to learn about Muslims, Mosques and Prayer. To hear and learn from stories of the Prophet.

AT2: Questions and answers about belonging, identity and diversity

What does it mean to belong for Sikhs?
To think about who belongs to whom, how we show that we belong, and ‘belonging’ to the world, the human race or to God: Who do I belong to? What does it mean to belong to one world? What is it like to belong to the Gurdwara? Do we belong to God?

Questions and meanings
To learn about how we explain what things mean, especially questions that make us wonder. What stories about God are told and loved? To learn some of the stories that Muslims, Christians and Sikhs tell about God, and think about what I say about God.
| AT 2: Questions and answers about beliefs, values and commitment linked to AT1: Religious and spiritual communication and expression |
| What happens in a holy building? What can we learn from visiting? To learn about what happens inside a Church, Mosque and Gurdwara, and to identify why these places are special for believers. |
| What really matters? To learn about the ways we show what matters to us and talk about questions like ‘Does money matter?’ ‘Why do families matter?’ ‘Does love matter most of all?’ ‘What matters most to me?’ |
| Why are some places special or holy? Why does it matter to say ‘thank you’, and to say ‘please’? When should we say ‘sorry’, ‘please’ or ‘thank you’, and why? Why do some people give praise and thanks to God, or say sorry to God? Which people, objects and places matter most to me? What makes us feel wonder and awe? |
| I can respond sensitively to stories about values and commitments (L2). I can say what matters to me, and give a reason (L2). I can say what matters in a Church, Mosque or Gurdwara (L2). |

RE in practice: the Sandwell RE syllabus scheme of work

UNITS of work ready to teach exemplify one way of putting this programme of study into action. They are provided on the Sandwell RE Agreed Syllabus Disc. Eight units are provided for key stage 1. Schools using these eight units will fulfil the requirements of the syllabus, but schools are also at liberty to develop units of their own, based on this programme of study.

1.1 EYFS / Y1 Who celebrates what? How and Where? Celebrations that matter in Sandwell (Christian, Muslim, Sikh)

1.8 Y2 How can we find out about Christianity today in Sandwell?
Key Stage 2 Programme of Study

The focus for RE for 7-11 year olds

Learning about religion: During key stage 2 pupils will extend their learning about Christianity and other principal religions both locally and globally. In so doing, they will develop their understanding of some concepts and feelings central to religion. They will explore the range of symbolic forms of religious expression in words and pictures, playing and praying, fasting, feasting and festivity. They become familiar with some religious texts and other sources and learn about their meaning. They investigate some issues raised by religion and learn about similarities and differences in religious belief and practice. They become increasingly competent and confident in their use of religious vocabulary and in developing the ability to discuss beliefs and values thoughtfully in the light of religious viewpoints.

Learning from religion: In the context of learning about religions, they recognize the challenges involved in distinguishing right and wrong, and in recognizing what is good and true. They are able to engage with, reflect on and respond to religious and spiritual questions, making links with the religions they have studied.

There are six key areas for learning for pupils at Key Stage 2. These can be taught in any sequence that the school plans. All six key areas enable achievement with reference to both AT1 and AT2. It is crucial to the success of RE teaching that a balance is struck in learning between gathering information and understanding about particular religions and thinking about the questions which all humans address. So learning about religion and learning from religion are equally important and depend upon each other.

Teachers are advised to refer to the aims elaborated on pages 7-9.

Key Stage 2 Breadth of study

During the key stage the pupils should be taught the knowledge, skills and understanding through the following religions, areas of study, experiences and opportunities.

Religions

Pupils will extend their understanding of Christianity, Sikhism and Islam, and begin to learn about Hinduism and Judaism.

Teachers may plan learning about other communities represented in the classroom as well.

Areas of study

- beliefs and questions: how people’s beliefs about God, the world and others impact on their lives;
- religion and the individual: questions about myself and my identity; what is expected of a person in following a religion;
- inspirational people: stories and ideas of figures from whom believers find inspiration;
- teachings and authority: what sacred texts and other sources say about God, the world and human life;
- religion, family and community: how religious families and communities practise their faith, and the contributions this makes to local life;
- worship, pilgrimage and sacred places: where, how and why people worship, including at some particular sites;
- symbols and religious expression: how religious and spiritual ideas are expressed;
- the journey of life and death: why some occasions are sacred to believers, and what people think about life after death;
- beliefs in action in the world: how religions respond to global issues of human rights, fairness, social justice and the importance of the environment.
Experiences and opportunities

- encountering religion through visitors and visits to places of worship, and focusing on the impact and reality of religion on the local and global community;
- discussing religious and philosophical questions, giving reasons for their own beliefs and those of others;
- considering a range of human experiences and feelings;
- expressing and communicating their own and others’ insights into life and its origin, purpose and meaning, through the creative and expressive arts, and ICT;
- developing the use of ICT, particularly in enhancing pupils’ awareness of religions globally.

Key Stage 3  Programme of Study

The Focus for RE for 11-14 year olds

Learning about religion: During key stage 3, pupils will deepen and broaden their understanding of Christianity and other principal religions in local, national and global contexts. In so doing, they extend their understanding of significant concepts and attitudes in religion. They learn to explain literal and symbolic forms of expression, e.g. in religious ritual, action, ethics and the arts. They explain and respond to religious sources, showing their understanding of some ways in which religious teachings can be interpreted within faith communities. They explore some personal, theological and cultural reasons for similarities and differences in religious beliefs and values, both within and between religions. They make effective use of religious terminology in deploying the skills for reasoned argument in believing and making value judgments.

Learning from religion: In the context of learning about religions, they investigate and explain viewpoints from within religious traditions as applied to relationships, rights and responsibilities, moral dilemmas and ultimate questions, relating these to their own ideas and experience. They begin to interpret religious ideas for themselves, and develop their own responses to key questions of meaning, truth and values thoughtfully.

Teachers are advised to refer to the aims elaborated on pages 7-9

Breadth of study

During the key stage the pupils should be taught the knowledge, skills and understanding through the following religions and beliefs, areas of study, experiences and opportunities.

Religions and beliefs
Pupils will learn about Christianity, Sikhism and Islam at higher levels. They will learn more about Hinduism and Judaism. They will begin to learn about Buddhism. Pupils may begin to learn about non-religious ethical life stances (e.g. Humanism)

Areas of Study
• authority: different sources of authority and how they inform believers’ lives;
• beliefs and concepts: the key ideas and questions of meaning in religions, including issues related to God, truth, the world, human life, and life after death;
• ethics and relationships: questions and influences that inform ethical and moral choices, including forgiveness and issues of good and evil;
• expressing spirituality: how and why human self understanding and experiences are expressed in a variety of forms;
• religion and science: issues of truth, explanation, meaning and purpose
• rights and responsibilities: what religions say about human rights and responsibilities, social justice and citizenship;
• global issues: what religions say about health, wealth, war, animal rights and the environment;
• inter-faith dialogue: a study of relationships, conflicts and collaboration within and between religions.

Experiences and opportunities
• encountering people from different religious, cultural and philosophical groups, who can express a range of convictions on religious and moral issues;
• visiting, where possible, places of major religious significance and using opportunities in ICT to enhance pupils understanding of religion;
• discussing, questioning and evaluating important issues in religion and philosophy, including ultimate questions and ethical issues;
• reflecting upon and carefully evaluating their own beliefs and values and those of others in response to their learning in Religious Education, using reasoned, balanced arguments;
• using a range of forms of expression (e.g. art, dance, drama and writing, ICT) to communicate their ideas and responses creatively and thoughtfully;
• exploring the connections between Religious Education and other subject areas, e.g. arts, humanities, literature, science.

Questions for Living / The Sandwell SACRE RE Agreed Syllabus 2012

AT2: Questions and answers about identity, belonging and diversity
AT1: Religious practices and ways of living

| What makes a person inspiring to others? (This unit is exemplified on the Sandwell RE Disc)
To explain why some leaders in religion have millions of followers: how have they shown a path for life?
What does it mean to take responsibility for belonging to a religion? To explain and interpret rituals of belonging and signs of religious identities.
| How can the lives of others help us understand human experience?
Why is it important to learn from the experiences of others?
| I can explain clearly the impact of inspirational leaders, and their ways of building communities (L5).
I can express clear and reasonable views about religious controversies and arguments (L5)
I can respond thoughtfully for myself to varied interpretations of religious teaching and practice about who we are, where we belong and why we matter (L6). |

AT2: Questions and answers about meaning, purpose and truth
AT1: Religious beliefs, teachings and sources

| What makes some scientists believe in religion, and others reject religion? (This unit is exemplified on the Sandwell RE Disc)
To investigate and explain how the origins of the universe and of life on earth can be viewed, and to engage in arguments about how to find the truth.
Where can life's meanings be found? To explore and explain meanings and purposes in life and religious responses to the human condition, clarifying my own answers to life's big questions.
| How can we identify and find answers to ultimate questions?
Why are there differences and similarities in responses to ultimate questions?
| I can explain clearly what different religions say about key questions and beliefs (L5).
I can respond thoughtfully for myself to religious teaching about the purposes of life, God, life after death or human rights (L5)
I can insightfully interpret questions about meaning and purpose in life referring to religious concepts (L6) |

AT2: Questions and answers about beliefs, values and commitments
AT1: Religious and spiritual communication and expression

| What do the religions studied have to say to me about values and commitments?
To respond thoughtfully to questions about people's beliefs, about life's meanings and purposes and about the impact of these beliefs on people's lives.
What difference does religion make? To show their understanding of questions of value by talking about 'what matters to me'; to describe the significance and impact of following a religion for people today; To consider some inter-faith issues.
| What is the impact of religious identity on moral commitments and behaviour? What influences my commitments and behaviour?
In what ways do religions seek to define what is good and evil? Why is it hard to compare religions? What links between them can be seen?
| I can explain clearly how religious identities make an impact on people in Sandwell and the UK (L5).
I can explain the impact of religion on some moral issues in contemporary society (L5).
I can respond thoughtfully, and with reference to religions studied, to ideas about beliefs, values and commitments (L6)
I can use a wide range of religious and moral terms to explain and account for my own commitments and values |

RE in practice: the Sandwell RE Syllabus scheme of work

UNITS of work ready to teach exemplify the kinds of units schools can use in creating their RE programme of study. Three units for RE at key stage 3 are provided on the Sandwell RE Agreed Syllabus Disc.

3.1 How do we express our spiritual ideas? (Christian, Muslim, Sikh)?
3.2 What makes a person inspiring to others? (Christian, Muslim)
3.3 What makes some scientists believe in religion, and others reject religion? (Christian, Atheist, Agnostic)
Religious Education 14-19
Key Stage Four and the Sixth Form

The legal requirements and curriculum time required for RE
Provided of RE is a legal requirement for all students on the school roll. 70 hours of tuition or 5% of curriculum time across key stage 4 is the normal requirement by which learners can achieve the standards of the GCSE short course in Religious Studies. This is the minimum benchmark for RE provision in Sandwell.

RE in Key Stage 4 in Sandwell Schools
The requirements of the syllabus are met where pupils take a GCSE course in religious studies (or equivalent) from a national awarding body.

Any pupil following one of the nationally accredited courses below is deemed to have met the requirements of the Agreed Syllabus:

a) A GCSE Religious Studies course which is based on the study of Christianity and at least one other principal religion (the full course);

b) A GCSE (Short Course) in Religious Studies which is based on the study of Christianity and at least one other principal religion (the short course);

c) An Entry Level Certificate Course in Religious Education which is based on the study of Christianity and at least one other principal religion.

Currently (2012-13), such courses are available from all the national awarding bodies: AQA, OCR, Edexcel and WJEC. There is a wide range of options and combinations of religions and topics to be studied. Schools must teach RE using the specifications of a GCSE (short) RS course. The Agreed Syllabus does not, of course, require that individual students be entered for this examination: that is a matter for schools.

Schools must select options which enable pupils to study Christianity and at least one other religion. It is good practice for students to learn about the religions and beliefs of their own community and from their own perspective.

Teaching 14-16s a course in RE / RS from an awarding body for all students is a requirement of the Agreed Syllabus. Considering which students are entered for the examinations is of course a matter for schools.

The value of RE to students 14-19
Through these RE courses, students gain access to many valuable learning opportunities include enabling students to:

- flourish individually, within their communities and as citizens in a diverse society and in the global community;
- develop many personalised learning skills and apply them to questions of religion, belief and society;
- develop attitudes of respect for all in a plural society.

Academic examinations and qualifications in RE are valuable for further studies, academic and graduate learning and all careers where working with people from different communities is involved.
Key concepts for 14-19 RE for all

Teachers need to provide learning for students in relation to the key concepts that underpin the study of RE in order to deepen and broaden their knowledge, skills and understanding. These concepts are used by the Awarding Bodies who set GCSE RS specifications. RE teaching in Sandwell reinforces the conceptual basis of learning at GCSE.

The key concepts
A. Beliefs, teachings and sources
- Analysing teachings, sources, authorities and ways of life in order to understand religions and beliefs in historical and cultural contexts.
- Understanding and analysing beliefs, teachings and attitudes in relation to the human quest for identity, meaning and values.

B. Practices and ways of life
- Explaining and evaluating the varied impacts of religions and beliefs on how people live their lives.
- Understanding and analysing the ways in which the impact of religions and beliefs can vary according to context.

C. Expressing meaning
- Interpreting and evaluating the meanings of different forms of religious, spiritual, moral and cultural expression.
- Interpreting and synthesising many different sources and forms of religious, spiritual, moral and cultural expression.

D. Identity, diversity and belonging
- Interpreting and analysing diverse perspectives on issues connecting personal and communal identity.
- Evaluating and analysing questions of identity, diversity and belonging in personal and communal contexts and in relation to community cohesion.

E. Meaning, purpose and truth
- Analysing and synthesising insights on ultimate questions that confront humanity
- Expressing personal and critical evaluations of questions of meaning, purpose and truth in relation to religion and beliefs

F. Values and commitments
- Synthesising evidence and arguments about ethics and morality in relation to beliefs, spirituality and experience.
- Evaluating personally and critically their own and others’ values and commitments in order to make coherent and rational choices.

Learning about religion (AT1)
Students should be able to:
- investigate and interpret significant issues in the light of their own identities, experiences and commitments
- present coherent, detailed arguments about beliefs, ethics, values and issues, with independence and critical awareness of their methods of study
- use and develop specialist vocabulary and critical arguments, with awareness of their power, limitations and ambiguity
- use and evaluate the rich, varied forms of creative expression in religious life.

Learning from religion (AT2)
Students should be able to:
- reflect critically on their opinions in the light of their learning about religions, beliefs and questions
- develop their independent values and attitudes on moral and spiritual issues related to their autonomy, identities, rights and responsibilities
- evaluate issues, beliefs, commitments and the influence of religion, including philosophical, spiritual and ethical perspectives
- use skills of critical enquiry, creative problem-solving and communication through a variety of media to respond to issues of identity, meaning and values in a wide range of contexts.
Curriculum opportunities
During the 14-19 phase students should be offered the following opportunities that are integral to their learning in RE and enhance their engagement with the concepts, processes and content of the subject. The curriculum should provide opportunities for students to:

- discuss, explore and question concepts, images and practices;
- visit places of worship, inter-faith centres or other spiritual places, learning from worship or rituals, as appropriate;
- discuss, reflect on and develop arguments about philosophical and ethical issues;
- reflect on the importance of engagement in community projects, dialogue or social action, reflecting on its importance for themselves and others;
- encounter and engage with people from different religious, cultural and philosophical groups, to explore a range of convictions on religious and moral issues;
- evaluate concepts, practices and issues, paying attention to beliefs and experience, and using reasoned, balanced arguments;
- use a range of forms of expression to communicate their ideas and responses, including exploring and recording how their thoughts, feelings and experiences have changed;
- access the sources, images and sounds that are key to their study, using texts and ICT as appropriate;
- explore the connections between RE and other subject areas.

16 –19 RE for All
All schools with students aged 16-19 on roll are required to provide an RE entitlement for these students, irrespective of which examination courses they may choose. This core entitlement for all students is seen in this Agreed Syllabus as an enrichment of curriculum studies: it takes its place alongside key skills, critical thinking, sex education and citizenship studies, all of which the school will also provide for students in this age range. The allocation of curriculum time for RE should be clearly identifiable and should avoid tokenism.

At this stage, learning opportunities should be focused upon a range of religions and views of life appropriate to the students and the selected curriculum content, having regard to prior learning and the value of both depth and breadth in studying religions. Schools may plan their provision for the key stage including topics selected from those listed below, or designed by the school in line with all the general requirements of the syllabus.

There is considerable flexibility for schools in devising programmes of study for 16-19s, and the units of study can be delivered in various ways, including through core and enrichment programmes of study, general studies, examined courses, as day conferences or through integrated work in a number of subjects.

The Agreed Syllabus Conference wishes to draw attention to the SCAA / QCA publication ‘Religious Education 16-19’ (reference: RE/95/299, ISBN: 1 85838 074 X) as a source of guidance for schools. A copy of this booklet is included on the Agreed Syllabus disc.
Suggested potential unit titles for RE 16-19

- Religion in film and media: what stereotypes and prejudices are apparent? What is the best kind of religious broadcasting? How does, and how should, the media represent religious and spiritual ideas and communities?
- The ethics of birth and death: Is ‘playing god’ ever justifiable? What makes a decision about the sanctity of life right or wrong, and who should do the deciding?
- Good and evil: spiritual questions about a world of suffering, psychological, philosophical, sociological and theological responses.
- Science and faith: complementary or contradictory? Exploring the forms of knowledge in faith and in scientific enquiry and competing accounts of the value of each.
- God, ethics and sexuality: where do our principles for love and partnership come from? How are they changing? Why is it that sexuality is the source of many of both life’s best and worst experiences? How do religious communities express their sex ethics?
- Inter faith issues: how can we build communities of respect for the well being of all in a religiously plural world?
- Adult spirituality: exploring some spiritual ways of life for grown up humans
- Who needs God in the 21st Century? Examining arguments and experience of atheists and theists.
- Film and faith: how is spirituality dealt with in some recent films? How is Judaism, Islam, Buddhism or atheism represented in film?
- Rage or despair? How can our reactions to what is wrong in the world be used to change the world? Exploring Job, Psalms, Ecclesiastes and other Jewish scripture to find insight into contemporary issues.

Schools and colleges seeking guidance on how to make this provision are welcome to contact the Sandwell SACRE RE Consultant for further advice, guidance, resources and examples.
Skills for reasoning, enquiry and engagement

Developing reasoning skills in RE

- Analyse arguments and evidence with critical and personal balance
- Evaluate with insight different perspectives personally and critically
- Support points of view with reasons, arguments and experiences
- Explain reasons for points of view
- Support a point of view with a reason
- Make simple connections between questions, beliefs and answers.
- Develop ideas and questions thoughtfully
- Talk thoughtfully about simple ideas and questions

| 6 Support points of view with reasons, arguments and experiences | Pupils can use personal experiences, structured arguments and reasoning to try to establish their ideas with increasing conviction. E.g:
- ‘There are three reasons why I believe respect is important...’
- ‘My arguments for the idea that prayer is sometimes answered are...’ |
| 5 Explain reasons for points of view | Pupils can work with diverse points of view, including their own, explaining reasons why people hold different viewpoints. E.g:
- ‘the reason atheists say...’
- ‘Christians believe... because...’
- ‘I think that... for three reasons...’ |
| 4 Support a point of view with a reason | Pupils can give a point of view – e.g. Muslims should be allowed a day off for Eid; giving to charity is better than praying; people can achieve calmness through worship. They support their opinion with a reason that shows understanding. |
| 3 Make simple connections between questions, beliefs and answers. | Pupils can link elements of religion together. E.g. connect the story of Jesus’ death with Easter, link up the practice of a funeral with belief about life after death, describe two varied answers to a religious question. |
| 2 Develop ideas and questions thoughtfully | Pupils can take a question given by the teacher and ask another one like it; they think for themselves about simple religious and spiritual ideas. E.g. what happens in a Gurdwara? And how do the Sikh people feel? What do Christians remember at Easter? And how do they use music, food or drama to help them to remember? |
| 1 Talk thoughtfully about simple ideas and questions | Pupils can respond with increasing confidence to questions about religious and spiritual topics, e.g. how do you know? Can you say what ‘God’ means? Does it help to say a prayer? Why do Jewish people like to do this? |

These core skills are developed across the curriculum. In RE they will be applied to the religions and beliefs studied, in ways that give pupils increasing opportunities to respond for themselves and be reasonable about religion.
Developing enquiry skills in RE

Plan & carry out independent critical research, drawing balanced conclusions from wide ranging evidence & arguments.

Initiate and carry through independent enquiries, critically evaluating evidence, arguments, ideas and perspectives.

Plan and pursue diverse lines of enquiry, supporting opinions with arguments and relevant evidence.

Suggest lines of enquiry and plan investigations for themselves.

Gather, select, organise or refine questions, ideas and answers.

Ask questions and seek and find answers.

Ask questions of their own.

Be curious.
Enquiry Skills: in RE, in relation to religion, pupils are increasingly enabled to pursue questions, investigations and enquiries of their own, developing ways to find answers, understand perspectives and evaluate arguments:

Where pupils give evidence of these skills in their handling of questions about religions and beliefs, they are making progress. Teachers should set up ways of working in RE that enable these skills to flourish.
Engaging, reflecting and responding:
RE values the provision of opportunities for learners to engage with spiritual and religious questions about God and humanity for themselves. Through processes of critical reflection learners develop their ability to connect their own experiences and responses to the religious material they study with increasing rigour. The subject is at its best when these processes of learning from religion are closely linked to the gathering of information, understanding and critical reasoning.

In RE pupils are increasingly enabled to:

1. Take an interest in things that puzzle themselves and other people
2. Respond sensitively for themselves to spiritual and religious questions
3. Make reflective links between their own experiences and the material they study
4. Apply ideas from religions to their own experiences and reflections thoughtfully
5. Express their viewpoints on religious and spiritual questions taking account of others’ experiences
6. Respond with clear arguments and personal insights to the impact and challenges of varied religions and beliefs
7. Critically and personally evaluate religious and spiritual questions using balanced evidence and arguments
8. Reflectively analyse and synthesise varied understandings of religions and beliefs

Where pupils give evidence of these skills in their handling of questions about religions and beliefs, they are making progress. Teachers should set up ways of working in RE that enable these skills to flourish.
Skills, progression, achievement and assessment in RE

Since the publication of the 2006 Sandwell syllabus, there has been continuing controversy and thinking at national level about how achievement in RE should be described. The development of assessment for learning theory and of ‘assessing pupils progress (APP)’ structures for some subjects by QCDA has been considered in relation to the Sandwell syllabus. After careful thought and consultation this Agreed Syllabus has added new guidance to help the teacher of RE to use the 8 level scale carefully and effectively. The scale itself is largely the same as the 2006 scale.

8 Levels in RE: achievement and assessment structures and support

The attainment targets for Religious Education set out the knowledge, skills and understanding that pupils of different abilities and maturities are expected to have by the end of key stages 1, 2 & 3. As with the national curriculum subjects the attainment targets consist of eight level descriptions of increasing difficulty, plus a description for exceptional performance above level 8. Each level description describes the types and range of performance that pupils working at that level should characteristically demonstrate.

The key indicators of attainment in RE are contained in Attainment Target 1 (Learning about religion) and Attainment Target 2 (Learning from religion).

Learning about religion includes enquiry into and investigation of the nature of religion, its key beliefs and teachings, practices, their impacts on the lives of believers and communities, and the varying ways in which these are expressed. It also includes the skills of interpretation, analysis and explanation. Pupils learn to communicate their knowledge and understanding using specialist vocabulary. It also includes identifying and developing an understanding of ultimate questions and ethical issues.

Learning from religion is concerned with developing pupils’ reflection on and response to their own experiences and their learning about religion. It develops pupils’ skills of application, interpretation and evaluation of what they learn about religion, particularly to questions of identity and belonging, meaning, purpose and truth and values and commitments, and communicating their responses.

The level descriptions provide the basis to make judgements about pupils’ performance at the end of key stages 1, 2 and 3. In the foundation stage children are expected to meet the early learning goals. At key stage 4, national qualifications are the main means of assessing attainment in RE.

Assessing attainment at the end of a key stage

In deciding on a pupil’s level of attainment at the end of a key stage, teachers should judge which description best fits the pupil’s performance. When doing so, each description should be considered alongside descriptions for adjacent levels. There are no national statutory assessment requirements in RE, but schools must report to parents on pupils’ attainment and progress in Religious Education.
The level descriptions

The level descriptions for
Attainment target 1: Learning about religion refer to how pupils develop their knowledge, skills and understanding with reference to:
- beliefs and teachings
- practices and ways of life
- forms of expression.

The level descriptions for
Attainment target 2: Learning from religion refer to how pupils, in the light of their learning about religion, express their responses and insights with regard to questions and issues about:
- identity, belonging and diversity
- meaning, purpose and truth
- values and commitments.

This is the key way for teachers to begin interpreting the scale, and to begin sharing its demands with students. One core skill from each attainment target is highlighted, usually summed up in just one word. These skills are carefully chosen to exhibit the progression that the scale envisages. They function as a simple shorthand for each of the levels, highlighting the key ability that this level seeks to develop.

Teachers will find this ladder helpful for themselves and for classroom display, as a way of sharing what progress in RE means and looks like with learners. Some criticise this approach as simplistic. At least it makes a start. There is some comparability with the 8 level scales for History, Geography and English. The complexity of the scale is considerable – and it’s very demanding. The instant judgement of 500 pupils’ work (typical numbers for the often solitary RE subject leader in secondary schools) that teachers must make as they swiftly mark and respond to pupils work are facilitated by this initial ‘broad brush’.

Teachers will, of course, become increasingly familiar with all the subtle nuances of each word and phrase in the scale, and this will help them to plot and enable progress in depth. But the ladder makes sense as a starting point.

Performance Descriptions for Religious Education (‘P’ Scales) for Pupils with Special Needs

- P levels 1-3: early development expected across the curriculum
- P levels 4-8: development specifically related to Religious Education

Early Development (P levels 1-3)

| P1 | Pupils are beginning to show sensory awareness in relation to a range of people, objects and materials in everyday contexts. They show reflex responses to sensory stimuli, e.g. startling at sudden noises or movements. |
| P2 | Pupils begin to respond to familiar people, events and objects, e.g. reaching and holding objects, smiling and turning to familiar voices. They make sounds or gestures to express simple needs, wants or feelings in response to their immediate environment, e.g. protesting or requesting, using facial expressions to enhance meaning. |
| P3 | Pupils begin to communicate intentionally. They show anticipation in response to familiar people, routines, activities and actions and respond appropriately to them. They explore or manipulate objects, toys, artefacts or other equipment. They are able to communicate simple choices, likes and dislikes. They can communicate, using different tones and sounds and use some vocalisations and/or gestures to communicate. |

Performance Descriptions in RE (P levels 4-8)

Levels P4 to P8 describe pupils’ performance in terms of the development of skills, knowledge and understanding in religious education. The descriptions provide an example of how this can be done.

| P4 | Pupils use single elements of communication, for example, words, gestures, signs or symbols, to express their feelings. They begin to respond to the feelings of others, for example, matching their emotions and laughing when another pupil is laughing. They join in with activities by initiating ritual actions or sounds. They may demonstrate an appreciation of stillness and quietness. |
| P5 | Pupils respond appropriately to simple questions about familiar religious events or experiences and communicate simple meanings. They respond to a variety of new religious experiences, for example, involving music, drama, colour, lights, food or tactile objects. They take part in activities involving two or three other learners. They may also engage in moments of individual reflection. |
| P6 | Pupils express and communicate their feelings in different ways. They respond to others in group situations and co-operate when working in small groups. Pupils listen to, and begin to respond to, familiar religious stories, poems and music, and make their own contribution to celebrations and festivals. They carry out ritualised actions in familiar circumstances. They show concern and sympathy for others in distress, for example, through gestures, facial expressions or by offering comfort. They start to be aware of their own influence on events and other people. |
| P7 | Pupils listen to and follow religious stories. They communicate their ideas about religion, life events and experiences in simple phases. They evaluate their own work and behaviour in simple ways, beginning to identify some actions as right or wrong on the basis of consequences. They find out about aspects of religion through stories, music or drama, answer questions and communicate their responses. They may begin to understand that other people have needs and to respect these. They make purposeful relationships with others in group activity. |
| P8 | Pupils listen attentively to religious stories or to people talking about religion. They begin to understand that religious and other stories carry moral and religious meaning. They are increasingly able to communicate ideas, feelings or responses to experiences or to retell religious stories. They communicate simple facts about religions and important people in religions. They begin to realise the significance of religious artefacts, symbols and places. They reflect on what makes them happy, sad, excited or lonely. They demonstrate a basic understanding of what is right and wrong in familiar situations. They are often sensitive to the needs and feelings of others and show respect for themselves and others. They treat living things and their environment with care and concern. |
Sandwell SACRE RE: Assessment tools.

“I Can…”

A tool for using the 8 level scale of expectations in RE from the Sandwell RE Syllabus

The Sandwell 8 level scale of Expectations of Standards in RE can be used to generate ‘I can’ statements for pupils. Here are some examples covering levels 1-8, which teachers across the key stages may find useful. They are related closely to the field of enquiry for RE specified by the Sandwell Agreed Syllabuses (1994, 2000, 2005). This set of statements incorporates the skills of reasoning and enquiry given above (page 1).

They are only examples, and teachers will see how they might be adapted to different curriculum content, or age groups and to different religions. Teachers should seek to generate their own ‘I can...’ statements. The language here is designed to be more ‘pupil friendly’ than the 8 level scale itself, which is a professional tool for teachers. But you may yet wish to simplify it further for display on the classroom wall, or in conversation with classes about ‘what we’re looking for in RE’. Older pupils may create their own as part of assessment for learning.

The first set in each box relate to AT1, learning about religion (in plain text).

The second set relate to AT 2, learning from religion (in italics).

It is not possible to be comprehensive in giving ‘I Can...’ statements for all aspects of a syllabus, because they reflect closely what an individual teacher does in a lesson or scheme of work. So these are partial, but are included to refer closely to the year themes, experiences, knowledge, skills and understanding in each of key stages 1-3 which the Syllabus uses.

Building the bridge from the 8 level scale to the classroom is part of the teacher’s task. This will take you more than half way, but your own school will show the rest of the way. These are written to imply a learning activity very clearly, and as such may not connect with the way any individual school approaches the programme of RE work. They are an illustration of good practice.

It cannot be overemphasised that these are just examples but they are intended to show how the generalised, dense language of the 8 level scale actually might work when translated into specific content and tasks. Here we build specifics onto the general foundation of the scale, using and referring to the structure of RE in the Sandwell Agreed Syllabus.

Teachers might take any unit from the syllabus and write some ‘I can...’ statements that put the learning targets into pupil friendly speech. This is easier than it might look, but usually needs to be drafted and redrafted.

As always, the teacher’s judgement about the best fit of a level to a piece of work is central. The scale is just as useful in setting tasks and expectations as it is in weighing up what pupils have achieved ~ maybe more so.

Good ‘I can...’ statements use the skill words at the heart of the scale, sharpen them against the content the pupils have studied, and use simple, clear language (without ‘dumbing down’) to say as clearly as possible what is required for the level to be achieved.
AT1 I can...

- Name a church or a mosque from a picture.
- Remember and tell someone three things that happened in the Mary and Joseph story at Christmas.
- Say what happened to the Baby Moses after he was left in the bulrushes.
- Put six pictures from the Divali story in the right order.
- From 6 artefacts or pictures, pick three that are belong with Christians and churches, or three that belong with Muslims and a mosque, or three that belong with a Sikh Gurdwara.
- Recognise that a picture of Guru Nanak is special to Sikh people.
- Talk about a murti (image) of a god or goddess from the Hindu tradition, saying what makes it special to Hindus.
- Tell someone what God does in the Creation stories of Genesis.
- Say what a rainbow stands for in Noah’s story.
- Name two festivals that Christians like to celebrate.
- Recognise the main character in some stories of Jesus (Christian), the Prophet (Islam), the Ten Gurus (Sikh) or the gods and goddesses (Hindu).
- Recognise that images of the Buddha are valued by Buddhists.

AT2 I Can...

- Talk about times when we think of new life: Easter, Harvest, or when a baby is born.
- Talk about a favourite person in the story of Christmas, or the life of the Prophet, or a story of Guru Nanak.
- Say what I think is good about sharing things fairly.
- Talk about unfair shares: are they a bad idea?
- Talk about things that matter most in my bedroom, and things that matter most in a Mosque, Gurdwara or a Church.
- Talk about some interesting and puzzling questions I’d like to know about to do with God and creation.
- Talk about thanking and being thanked, praising and being praised.
- Talk about how it feels to create something myself, and how it would feel to have your creation spoiled.
- Talk about belonging: who do I belong to? How does it show?
- Talk about how symbols of light make me feel.
- Speak about my own celebrations and someone else’s celebrations.
- Talk about what Christians have said about God, and what I say.
AT1. I Can...

- Put 7 parts of a creation story into the right order (sequencing).
- Retell a story of Jesus, and suggest what it might mean to a Christian person.
- Suggest two things that matter to a Christian or to a Muslim.
- Identify three things people try to do if they want to be good Muslims.
- Identify two things used by a Muslim, or a Hindu to worship.
- Suggest a meaning for two Sikh artefacts from a Gurdwara.
- Retell a simple story of the Buddha.
- Identify a Christian belief and / or a Muslim belief
- Match up some Christian beliefs to some Christian symbols or artefacts.
- Say what makes the Holy Qur’an and the Gospel special, and to whom.
- Give a reason why Sikh people like to go to a Gurdwara.
- Identify a Christian hero and suggest a meaning for a story about her / him.
- Suggest what the lesson of Jesus’ Parable of the Pearl might be.
- Use a saying of Jesus as a title and theme to a story made up by me, which is about children of my own age (e.g. ‘Love Your Neighbour’ or ‘Do Not Worry’).
- Identify three items used in worship by Christians or by Jews.
- Suggest what the story of Diwali means for a Hindu person today.
- Identify 3 practices that matter to Muslims from a list of activities.

AT2 I Can...

- Respond sensitively to stories about people from (e.g.) the Muslim, Sikh or Christian religions, noticing what matters to them.
- Talk sensitively about saying sorry and forgiving people: why does it matter? What happens when people won’t say sorry?
- Respond to stories of kindness, self sacrifice or bravery from sacred texts with an idea of my own.
- Suggest some things that are precious, though money can’t buy them.
- Recognise – talk about – how we use all our senses to celebrate a big day.
- Talk about how a piece of music can express a feeling like joy or excitement, and how singing together (including in worship) makes people feel.
- Ask some questions about creation and its puzzling mysteries: e.g. give two answers to: ‘does a beautiful world mean there’s a wonderful God?’
- From a list of 6 questions about life, pick the three that are hardest to answer.
- Make up some good questions to ask ‘the person who knows everything’ / God.
- Suggest three questions about God that are interesting and hard to answer.
- Discuss or write down a reaction to a story with an angel in it: talk about what the angel stands for.

Show understanding, describe similarities and differences, apply ideas, suggest answers to questions

AT1. I Can...

- Show that I understand how the parable of the Good Samaritan can have an impact on Christians today.
- Show that I understand why a pilgrimage to Varanasi or a journey to the Golden Temple at Amritsar is different from a beach holiday to Goa.
- Show that I understand how the Buddha’s teachings are followed in a Vihara today.
- Show that I understand two similarities and two differences between worship at a Gurdwara and worship at a Church.
- Show my understanding of what it means to belong to Sikhism by describing how Amrit feels to a Sikh person of my age.
- Describe how adult Baptism feels to the young Baptist Christian, comparing it with another ‘ceremony of belonging’.
- Use correct religious words to describe the impact of a religion to the journey through life.
- Show my understanding of two differences between Muslims, Christians and Hindus, and two of the ways these religions are similar.
- Describe two different marriage services used in Christian communities, saying what is similar and different between them.
- Use the right words to describe my understanding of four of the Muslim ‘99 Names’ of Allah.
- Describe and link up Christian beliefs with Christian behaviour, e.g. belief in God as creator linked to ‘green’ practice.
- Describe three ways in which Muslim worship shows devotion to Allah.
- Connect up the work of Christian Aid with three sayings of Jesus about poverty.
- Connect Sikh stories of the Gurus with some of the ideas of the Mool Mantar.

AT2. I Can...

- Devise four good questions about what makes a leader worth following, and state what a Buddhist might say about the leadership of the Buddha.
- Suggest some answers to ‘why’ questions about Jesus, Bishop Tutu and Jackie Pullinger, who were willing to practise self sacrifice.
- Refer to the teaching of Bible or Qur’an to describe how Martin Luther King or Malcolm X were inspired by their faith to work for racial equality.
- Refer to the teachings of the 2 religions to show that I understand how calligraphy expresses some Muslim spiritual ideas, and crucifixion paintings express some Christian ideas.
- Refer to Islamic sources or quotations in giving my own response to Muslim belief about God.
- Refer to Sikh teaching about Langar and Sewa in describing my vision of an inspiring community.
